Reading, Comprehension, Writing, and Spelling

Systematic, sequential, explicit, multisensory teaching leads to success for students who struggle in traditional academic situations. The proven Orton-Gillingham (O-G) Approach develops the skills required for reading, writing and spelling. Comprehension and writing skills courses are also available.

Handwriting, Keyboarding and Assistive Technology

Our practice offers print remediation (2nd grade and older), cursive script and handwriting fluency programs. We also teach keyboarding to prepare children and teens for our fast paced world. Talk to us about training in Assistive Technology, such as text-to-speech, and how to use speech-to-text effectively.

Executive Function Skills

Some children, and adults, are hampered in their learning, and their personal lives, by poor executive function skills. These affect time-management, organization, and motivation, and can lead to failure in otherwise capable students. We offer the Sklar Seeing My Time class, which teaches self awareness, advocacy and strategies to make effective use of time.
